Then watch Benny Leonard, Roberto Duran and other welter and lightweight champions knock down 50 years of opposition. Boxing's best at their best—all on HBO.

Using your HBO Program Guide

The daily schedule is divided into weekends and weekdays. Movies and specials premiere on weekends. After the time, title and a few words about a movie, you'll find in parentheses the original Motion Picture Association of America rating (PG—Parental Guidance suggested) and the running time (1:36—one hour, 36 minutes.) A page number then refers you to a brief description of that special or movie; the MPAA rating is repeated. HBO adds, in italics, information relative to the rating (Violence, Nudity.) In bold type, all play dates for this particular month are given. Programs premiering late in the month, repeat next month.

Home Box Office reserves the right to make a schedule change or program substitution without notice.
